

Interns for the Project Rebound Program:

Brief description of Project Rebounds expectations of intern representatives

The Project Rebound staff is looking for students who are dependable and patient with other people. Students will be working both directly and indirectly with formerly incarcerated people, so all students who work with us can not have any ill feelings towards people who come from either prison or the county jail.

The interns are expected to maintain a routine work ethic for the whole semester. There is no room to jump around because people are going to depend on you for different things.

- ✓ For instance, members of the Rebound staff go into the local county jail facilities to teach educational empowerment.
- ✓ Our interns will have to prepare lesson plans, go over the plans with students in the jail, be able to logically explain what you are intending to teach, and keep track of the marks the students get. (we are not concerned with a grading system)
- ✓ Our interns will present the Rebound program and its motto for a successful transition to groups of newly released parolees on a weekly bases.
- ✓ Interns will present the possibilities and rewards of college to juveniles in the Youth Guidance Center and other youth correctional facilities in the Bay Area.
- ✓ Interns may need to do one on one tutoring with current Rebound students having trouble with their classes.
- ✓ Interns may have to facilitate Project Rebound events on campus.
- ✓ Interns will keep the web page up to date with current situations.
- ✓ Interns may have to represent Project Rebound and San Francisco State University in front of different city officials.

Notice: Space for interns is limited to first qualified, first to fill the different positions per semester

Our mission and Focus for working with student interns:

We strive to take a constructive approach at engaging our students and the community in both a positive and empowering educational experience. In order for us to do so we feel that it is imperative for all of our interns to respect the right to privacy while maintaining a respectable rapport with on and off campus affiliates while representing the Project Rebound program. We will not accept behavior that will adversely reflect the Rebound program or the students that are working hard to replenish their tarnished image.

Note:

If interested, please submit an application to the Project Rebound program. All applicants will be properly screened to find the most appropriate fit for the intern opportunity. All those who submit applications are not guaranteed a position. (You can pick up an application in the Rebound Office CCSC T-138)
